Ord.
25 of 1996.

(2) Notwithstanding such repeal, anything done or any action taken under the said Ordinance shall be deemed to have been done or taken under the corresponding provisions of this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

It is estimated that about 8.5 million workers in the country are engaged in building and other construction works. Building and other construction workers are one of the most numerous and vulnerable segments of the unorganised labour in India. The building and other construction works are characterised by their inherent risk to the life and limb of the workers. The work is also characterised by its casual nature, temporary relationship between employer and employee, uncertain working hours, lack of basic amenities and inadequacy of welfare facilities. In the absence of adequate statutory provisions, the requisite information regarding the number and nature of accidents is also not forthcoming. In the absence of such information, it is difficult to fix responsibility or to take any corrective action.

2. Although the provisions of certain Central Acts are applicable to the building and other construction workers yet a need has been felt for a comprehensive Central Legislation for regulating their safety, health, welfare and other conditions of service. The State Governments and Union Territory Administrations have been consulted in the matter and a majority of them have favoured such a legislation. Also, in a meeting of the Committee of State Labour Ministers constituted pursuant to the decision of the 41st Labour ministers Conference held under the chairmanship of the then Union Labour Minister on the 18th May, 1995, a general consensus had emerged on the need for the proposed Central legislation.

3. In view of the circumstances explained above, it has been considered necessary to constitute Welfare Boards in every State so as to provide and monitor social security schemes and welfare measures for the benefit of building and other construction workers. For the said purpose, it has been considered appropriate to bring in a comprehensive legislation by suitably amplifying the provisions of the Building and Other Construction Workers (Regulation of Employment and Conditions of Service) bill, 1988 which was introduced in the Rajya Sabha on the 5th December, 1988. It has also been considered necessary to levy a cess on the cost of construction incurred by the employers on the building and other construction works for ensuring sufficient funds for the Welfare Boards to undertake the social security schemes and welfare measures.

4. As Parliament was not in session and in view of the urgency felt by the Government for meeting the longstanding demand for the aforesaid legislation, the President was pleased to promulgate the Building and Other Construction Workers (Regulation of Employment and Conditions of Service) Ordinance, 1995 (Ord. 14 of 1995) along with another Ordinance for the levy of a cess on the 3rd November, 1995.

5. A Bill, namely, the Building and Other Construction Workers (Regulation of Employment and Conditions of Service) Bill, 1995 was introduced in Lok Sabha on the 1st December, 1995 to replace the aforesaid Ordinance by an Act of Parliament. Since the said Bill could not be taken up for consideration in the Winter Session, 1995 and the Budget Session, 1996 of Lok Sabha, fresh Ordinances, namely, the Building and Other Construction Workers (Regulation of Employment and Conditions of Service) Ordinance, 1996 and the Building and Other Construction Workers (Regulation of Employment and Conditions of Service) Second Ordinance, 1996 (Ord. 15 of 1996) respectively were promulgated on the 5th January, 1996 and the 27th March, 1996 with a view to provide continued effect to the legislative protection. With the dissolution of the 10th Lok Sabha, the Building and Other Construction Workers (Regulation of Employment and Conditions of Service) Bill, 1995 has lapsed. By virtue of Article 123 (2) (a) of the Constitution, the Building and Other Construction Workers (Regulation of Employment and Conditions of Service) Second Ordinance, promulgated on 27th March, 1996 would have also ceased to operate with effect from 4th July, 1996. In view of the urgency attaching to the matter and as Parliament was not in Session, the President was pleased to promulgate the Building and Other Construction Workers (Regulation of Employment and Conditions of Service) Third Ordinance, 1996 (Ord. 25 of 1996), on 20th June, 1996 in order to give continued effect to the legislative protection envisaged in the said ordinance.

6. The Building and Other Construction Workers (Regulation of Employment and Conditions of Service) Third Ordinance, 1996 inter alia, provides for the following matters, namely:—

(i) provision to cover every establishment which employs or had employed on any day of the preceding twelve months, fifty or more workers in any building or other construction work;

(ii) define 'appropriate Government' in respect of various establishments and also to enable the Central Government to notify and public sector undertaking in respect of which the Central Government will be the appropriate Government;

(iii) constitution of Central and State Advisory Committee to advise the appropriate Government on matters arising out of administration of the said Ordinance;

(iv) constitution of Expert Committee to advise on matters relating to framing of rules by the appropriate Government;

(v) registration of establishments employment construction workers, and appointment of registering officers;

(vi) registration of building workers as beneficiaries under the said Ordinance and provision for their identity cards, etc.;

(vii) constitution of Welfare Boards by the State Governments and registration of beneficiaries under the Fund;

(viii) provide for financing and augmenting resources of the Welfare Board constituted by the State Governments;

(ix) fixing hours for normal working day, weekly paid rest day, wages for over time, provision of basic welfare amenities like drinking water, latrines and urinals, creches, first aid, canteens, etc., for the building workers;

(x) provision for temporary living accommodation to all building workers within or near the work site;

(xi) making adequate provisions for safety and health measures for construction workers including appointment of safety committees and safety officers and compulsory notification of accidents;

(xii) empowering the Central Government to frame model rules for safety measures headed by Director-General of inspection at the Central level and Inspector-General at the State level;

(xiii) provision for appointment of inspecting staff including Director-General of Inspection at the Central level and Inspector-General at the State level;

(xiv) special provisions regarding fixing responsibility of employers to ensure compliance with safety provisions, and with regard to prevention of accidents, timely payment of wages, etc.;

(xv) provision for penalties for contravention, obstructions, violation and offence; taking cognizance by court of offence punishable under this Bill; and protection of action taken in good faith;

(xvi) application of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 to building and other construction workers; and

(xvii) empowering the Central Government to give directions to the States and to remove difficulties arising in giving effect to the provisions of the said Ordinance.

7. The Bill seeks to replace the Building and Other Construction Workers (Regulation of Employment and Conditions of Service) Third Ordinance, 1996.

Notes on clauses

Clause 1 deals with the short title, extent, commencement and application of the legislation. The Central Government may, by notification, appoint the dates of its coming into force of the legislation and different dates may be appointed for different States. This is necessary as the conditions prevailing in all the States may not be uniform and the administrative machinery is to be set up. Sub-clause (4) of this clause provides that the legislation would apply to every establishment which employs or had employed on any day during the preceding twelve months, fifty or more workers in any building or other construction work. The number of building and construction workers in an establishment has been fixed at fifty for the purpose of coverage under the proposed legislation on grounds of practicability because it may not be possible to cover a large number of very small establishments employing only a few workers for a short period for doing small and petty construction, demolition or repair work.

Clause 2 seeks to define certain words and expressions used in the Bill. According to sub-clause (a) which defines "appropriate Government", the Central Government is the appropriate Government in relation to an establishment employing building workers in respect of which the appropriate Government under the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, is the Central Government. This clause also enables the Central Government to specify, by notification in the Official Gazette, any public sector undertaking which is owned, controlled or managed by the Central Government in respect of which the appropriate Government will be the Central Government. In respect of the remaining establishments, the State Government shall be the appropriate Government. Sub-clause (d) defines "building and other construction work" to cover all conceivable kinds of building or other construction works for the purpose of coverage under the proposed legislation. Sub-clause (e) similarly defines "building worker" in very broad terms to include skilled, semi-skilled or unskilled, manual, supervisory, technical or clerical workers in connection with any building or other construction work but excluding persons who are employed mainly in managerial or administrative capacity, or supervisors drawing wages exceeding Rs. 1600 per mensem.

Clause 3 empowers the Central Government to constitute a tripartite Central Advisory Committee consisting of not less than nine and not more than thirteen members excluding the Chairman and the ex officio member to advise the Central Government on such matters arising out of the administration of the proposed legislation as may be referred to it.

Clause 4 empowers the State Governments to set up State Advisory Committee consisting of not less than seven and not more than eleven members excluding the Chairman, a member nominated by the Central Government and the ex officio member. A representative of the Central Government has been included as a member of every State Advisory Committee because construction works undertaken by the Central Government and Central public sector undertakings in the State are likely to be the major employers of construction workers in the State as well as major contributors to the Welfare Fund to be constituted at the State level.

Clause 5 provides for the constitution of one or more expert committees by the appropriate Government. The Committee shall consist of such persons specially qualified in building and other construction works for advising the concerned Government in making rules under the proposed legislation.

Clause 6 empowers the appropriate Government to appoint gazetted officers of Government to be the registering officers for the purposes of registration of establishments under the proposed legislation.

Clause 7 lays down the procedure for registration of establishments.

Clause 8 provides for revocation of registration of establishments in case of registration by misrepresentation or suppression of material facts or for any non-compliance of the provisions of the legislation in relation to any work carried on by the registered establishments.

Clause 9 provides for appeal against the orders made under clause 8.

Clause 10 prescribes the effect of non-registration of establishments requiring registration under the legislation and not registered or the registration of which have been revoked under clause 8 and where no appeal has been preferred within the prescribed time under clause 9 or where the appeal has been preferred but the same has been dismissed. The provision bars employing of building workers by such establishment without a valid registration.

Clause 11 provides that every building worker registered as a beneficiary under the legislation shall be entitled to the benefits provided by the State Welfare Board from its Fund.

Clause 12 prescribes that every building worker between eighteen and sixty years of age who has been engaged in building and other construction work for not less than ninety days in the preceding twelve months shall be eligible to apply to an officer authorised by the Board to register as a beneficiary under the legislation. The said clause also lays down the detailed procedure for registration of a building worker as a beneficiary. It also provides for preferring of an appeal to the Secretary of the Board or any other officer specified by the Board in this behalf and also for maintenance of certain registers by the Secretary of the Board.

Clause 13 provides for issue of photographed identity card to every building worker registered as a beneficiary under the legislation.

Clause 14 provides that a beneficiary shall cease to be a contributing beneficiary on attaining the age of sixty years or when he was not engaged in building and other construction work for not less than ninety days in a year. Sub-clause (2) of the said clause provides that if a beneficiary had contributed for at least five years continuously immediately before attaining the age of sixty years, he will be eligible to get such benefits as may be prescribed by rules.

Clause 15 provides for maintenance of a register by employers in respect of the beneficiaries employed by them.

Clause 16 prescribes that a building worker registered as a beneficiary under the legislation shall, till he attains the age of sixty years, make a contribution to the fund at such rates as may be specified by the State Government concerned. The said provision also enables the State Government to specify different rates of contributions to be made by different classes of building workers.

Clause 17 provides that a beneficiary who has not contributed for a continuous period of more than one year shall cease to be a beneficiary, unless his registration as a beneficiary is permitted to be renewed by the Secretary of the Board on payment of arrears of his contribution.

Clause 18 provides that every State Government shall constitute a Board. Sub-clause (2) of the said clause provides that the Board shall be a body corporate with perpetual succession and a common seal, etc. Sub-clause (3) provides that the Board shall consist of a Chairperson and such number of other members not exceeding fifteen as may be appointed to it by the State Government. However, the Board shall include an equal number of members representing the State Government, the employers and the building workers and that at least one member of the Board shall be a woman. Sub-clause (4) provides for fixation of the terms and conditions of appointment, salaries and other allowances, filling of casual vacancies of the members of the Board, etc., as per the rules to be made by the appropriate Government (State Government).

Clause 19 provides that every Board shall have a Secretary and such other officers and employees as the Board may consider necessary for the efficient discharge of its functions. Sub-clause (2) provides that the Secretary of the Board shall be its Chief Executive Officer. Sub-clause (3) provides that the terms and conditions of appointment and the salaries and allowances payable to the Secretary and other officers and employees of the Board shall be such as may be prescribed by rules.

Clause 20 lays down the procedure relating to meetings of the Board.

Clause 21 provides that the existence of any vacancy, defect in its constitution, defect in appointment of any person as a member of it or any irregularity of procedure of it without affecting the merits of the case shall not invalidate the proceedings of the Board.

Clause 22 enumerates the functions of the Board. The Board will be making disbursement to the beneficiaries as per the provisions of the legislation and the rules made thereunder. The Board will also be competent to grant loans and subsidies to local authorities and employers executing welfare schemes approved by the State Government.

Clause 23 provides that the Central Government may after due appropriation made by Parliament by law in this behalf, make grants and loans to the Board.

Sub-clause (1) of Clause 24 provides that every Board shall constitute a fund to be called the Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Fund with the sums received as loans and grants from the Central Government contributions made by the beneficiaries and all other sums received by the Board from such other sources as the Central Government may determine. Sub-clause (2) of the said clause provides that the fund shall be applied by the Board for its expenses in the discharge of its functions and for payment of salaries, allowances and other remuneration of the members, officers and other employees of the Board and for meeting other expenses for carrying out the objects of the legislation.

Clause 25 makes it obligatory for every Board to prepare its budget.

Clause 26 provides for the annual budget of every Board.

Clause 27 prescribes for maintenance of the proper accounts and other relevant records by every Board and preparation of an annual statement of accounts in such form as may be prescribed by rules in consultation with the Comptroller and Auditor General of India and compulsory audit by the Comptroller and Auditor General of India or any other person appointed by him. It also provides for laying of the audit report and the annual report of every Board before the concerned State Legislature.

It also cast a duty on the building worker to remove these temporary structures and restore possession of the place used for construction of the temporary accommodation back to the owner or the municipal or other local authority, as the case may be.

Clause 35 provides that in case of a place where more than fifty female building workers are ordinarily employed it should be necessary for the employer to make adequate arrangements for creches for the children and infants of the women under the care of trained women.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

In accordance with the scheme of the Bill, the Central Government will be the appropriate Government in relation to certain establishments carrying out the building and other construction works. There are certain provisions in the Bill, in particular, sub-clause (1) of clause 3 regarding constitution of a Central Advisory Committee and sub-clause (1) of clause 5 regarding constitution of Expert Committees which may involve some expenditure from the Consolidated Fund of India. However, it is not proposed to have a separate administrative machinery at the Central level to enforce the various provisions of the Bill including those relating to conduct of inspections. It is proposed to utilise the services of the officers of the existing administrative machinery constituted within the Ministry of Labour for the enforcement of other labour laws in force for performing the duties of the various statutory authorities like Director-General of Inspection to be appointed under sub-clause (3) of clause 42. However, some expenditure is likely to be incurred in respect of payment of fees and allowances to the non-officials nominated on Boards, Committees, etc. At this stage it is not possible to make an accurate estimate of the amounts which may be required for payment of the said fees and allowances. However, it is estimated that the expenditure would not exceed ten lakh rupees per annum.

2. Sub-clause (1) of clause 18 of the Bill provides for constitution of State Building and other Construction Workers' Welfare Board in every State by the concerned State Government. Sub-clause (3) of the said clause 18 provides that every Board shall consist of a chairperson, a person to be nominated by the Central Government and such number of other members, not exceeding 15, as may be appointed to it by the concerned State Government. Sub-clause (4) of the said clause inter alia provides that the terms and conditions of appointment and the salaries and other allowances payable to the Chairperson and other members of the Board shall be such as may be prescribed by rules. Sub-clause (1) of clause 19 of the Bill provides that the Board shall appoint a Secretary and such other officers and employees as it considers necessary for the efficient discharge of its functions under the proposed legislation.

3. It is not possible at this stage to indicate the expenditure, recurring or non-recurring, as would be involved in meeting the expenses of the State Welfare Boards as it would depend upon their financial resources. The Boards will meet their own expenditure from their own fund and any payment made to the Board by the Central Government after due appropriation made by Parliament by law in that behalf.

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Clause 28 of the Bill empowers the appropriate Government to make rules for fixing hours for normal working day for a building worker, a day of rest in every period of seven days which shall be allowed to all building workers and for the payment of remuneration to them.

2. Clause 40 of the Bill empowers the appropriate Government to make rules for the safety and health of building workers. Sub-clause (2) of that clause specifies the matters in respect of which rules may be made under this clause. These include, among other things, the safe means of access to, and the safety of, any working place, the precautions to be taken in connection with the demolition of a building or other structure, the handling or use of explosives, the erection, installation, use and maintenance of transport equipment and lifting appliances, lighting of every working place, precautions to be taken to prevent inhalation of dust, etc., the precautions to be taken in case of fire, the steps to be taken to prevent danger to workers from live electric wires or apparatus, etc., the safety policy relating to the steps to be taken to ensure the safety and health of the building workers, the provisions and maintenance of medical facilities and other matters concerning the safety and health of building workers. Clause 41 of the Bill provides for framing of model rules by the Central Government for the safety measures referred to in clause 40. Clause 41 also provides that the appropriate Government shall, while making any rules in respect of any matter under clause 40, so far as is practicable, conform to such model rules.

3. Clause 62 of the Bill empowers the appropriate Government to make, after consultation with the expert committee constituted under clause 5 of the Bill, wherever it considers necessary, rules for carrying out the provisions of the proposed legislation. Sub-clause (2) of that clause specifies the matters in respect of which rules may be made under clause 62. These include, among other things, the appointment, etc., of members representing various interests on the Central and State Advisory Committees, the various types of forms to be prescribed of applications, certificates, registers, etc., under various provisions of the Bill, latrines and urinals, accommodation, creches, first-aid facilities, canteen facilities and welfare measures for building workers, qualifications of safety officers, powers to be exercised by an Inspector, conditions of service of the experts and agencies to be employed and the period within which wages shall be paid to building workers.

4. The matters with respect to which the said rules may be made are matters of procedure or administrative detail and it may not be possible to provide for them in the Bill itself. The provisions have also been made for laying of such rules before Parliament or the State Legislature, as the case may be.

5. In view of the nature of legislation involved, clause 61 empowers the Central Government to remove, by order, any difficulty which may arise in giving effect to the provisions of the proposed legislation. This is by way of abundant caution and for covering difficulty which it is not practicable to visualise. It has, however, been provided that no such order shall be made in relation to any State after the expiry of two years from the day of commencement of the Act in that State. It has also been provided that a copy of every such order made shall be laid before Parliament.

6. In the context of the circumstances as explained above, the delegation of legislative power involved is of a normal character.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Bill is complementary to the Building and Other Construction Workers (Regulation of Employment and Conditions of Service) Bill, 1996 proposed to be introduced and considered simultaneously. With a view to provide for the levy and collection of a cess on the cost of construction incurred by the employers for augmenting the resources of the Building and Other Construction Workers' Welfare Boards constituted by the State Governments under the Building and Other Construction Workers (Regulation of Employment and Conditions of Service) Ordinance, 1995 (Ord. 14 of 1995), an Ordinance, namely, the Building and Other Construction Workers' Welfare Cess Ordinance, 1995 (Ord. 15 of 1995) was promulgated by the President on the 3rd November, 1995. The intention was to make over, after due appropriation by Parliament by law, the proceeds of the cess, to the State Building and Other Construction Workers' Welfare Boards and the cost of collection not exceeding one per cent. of the cess collected to the State Governments to whom it is proposed to delegate the authority to collect the cess. A Bill, namely, the Building and Other Construction Workers' Welfare Cess Bill, 1995 was introduced in Lok Sabha on the 1st December, 1995 to replace the said Ordinance by an Act of Parliament. Since the said Bill could not be taken up for consideration and passing in the Winter Session, 1995 and the Budget Session, 1996 of Lok Sabha, the Building and Other Construction Workers' Welfare Cess Ordinance, 1996 and the Building and Other Construction Workers' Welfare Cess Second Ordinance, 1996 respectively were promulgated on the 5th January, 1996 and the 27th March, 1996 with a view to give continued effect to the legislative protection. On the dissolution of the Tenth Lok Sabha, the Building and Other Construction Workers' Welfare Cess Bill, 1995 stood lapsed. By virtue of article 123(2)(a) of the Constitution the Building and Other Construction Workers' Welfare Cess Second Ordinance, 1996 promulgated on the 27th March, 1996 would have also ceased to operate with effect from the 4th July, 1996. In view of the urgency felt and as the Parliament was not in session, the President was pleased to promulgate the Building and Other Construction Workers' Welfare Cess Third Ordinance, 1996 on 20th June, 1996 in order to give continued effect to the legislative protection envisaged in the earlier Ordinance.

2. The Bill seeks to replace the Building and Other Construction Workers' Welfare Cess Ordinance, 1996 (Ord. 26 of 1996).

Sub-clause (1) of clause 3 of the Bill provides for the levy of a cess at such rate, not exceeding one per cent. of the cost of construction incurred by employers of the building and other construction workers, as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify.

2. The proceeds of the above-mentioned cess will be paid into the Consolidated Fund of India. The Central Government may, if Parliament, by appropriation made by law in this behalf, so provides, pay to the various State Building and Other Construction Workers' Welfare Boards, from time to time, out of such proceeds (after deducting the cost of collection not exceeding one per cent. of the amount collected) such sums of money as it may think fit.

3. The collection of the above-mentioned cess will involve some expenditure from the Consolidated Fund of India. It is not possible at this stage to estimate the amount of such expenditure as that will depend upon various contingencies such as the rate at which the cess may be levied, etc. As only the balance of the proceeds, after deducting the cost of collection not exceeding one per cent. of such cess collected may be utilised for making payments to the various State Building and Other Construction Workers' Welfare Boards, there will, in effect, be no net outgo from the Consolidated Fund of India.

4. The expenditure on the collection of cess will be of a recurring nature and the Bill does not involve any other expenditure, whether of a recurring or non-recurring nature.

2. The matters in respect of which rules may be made under the proposed legislation are matters of procedure and administrative detail and it is very difficult to provide for them in the Bill itself. The delegation of legislative power is, therefore, of a normal character.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Coal Mines Provident Fund and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1948 (46 of 1948) provides for the framing of a Provident Fund Scheme, a Family Pension Scheme, a Deposit-linked Insurance Scheme and a Bonus Scheme for persons employed in coal mines. The Act presently applies to about 948 units. As on 31st March, 1996 about 8.13 lakh coal workers were covered under the Act.

2. The Board of Trustees of the Coal Mines Provident Fund recommended to the Central Government for the framing of a suitable Pension Scheme providing wider benefits to the subscribers of the Coal Mines Provident Fund. It was, accordingly, proposed to amend the Act for the purpose of empowering the Central Government to frame a Pension Scheme, inter alia, for the following:—

(i) superannuation pension, retiring pension, permanent total disablement pension, widow or widower pension, children pension and orphan pension;

(ii) creation of a Pension Fund on the same pattern of contribution as the existing Family Pension Fund, supplemented by additional contributions agreed to voluntarily by the workers and the surplus available with existing Family Pension Fund;

(iii) transfer of all assets and liabilities of the existing Family Pension Fund to the proposed Pension Fund.

3. Considering the exigencies of the matter, an Ordinance, namely, the Coal Mines Provident Fund and Miscellaneous Provisions (Amendment) Ordinance, 1996 was promulgated by the President on the 5th January, 1996. For giving continued effect to the provisions of the said Ordinance, the Coal Mines Provident Fund and Miscellaneous Provisions (Amendment) Second Ordinance, 1996 was promulgated by the President on the 26th March, 1996 and in order to give continued effect to the provisions of the latter, the Coal Mines Provident Fund and Miscellaneous Provisions (Amendment) Third Ordinance, 1996 was promulgated by the President on the 20th June, 1996.

4. The Bill seeks to replace the Coal Mines Provident Fund and Miscellaneous Provisions (Amendment) Third Ordinance, 1996.

NEW DELHI;
The 3rd July, 1996.

KANTI SINGH.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

The Family Pension Fund constituted under sub-section (2) of section 3E of the Coal Mines Provident Fund and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1948 has an element of Central Government contribution. At present, the Central Government contributes at the rate of one and two-third per cent. of the emoluments of each employee. The Central Government is also bearing the entire cost of administration of the Family Pension Fund. It is proposed to bring in a new Pension Scheme with a new Pension Fund in place of the existing Family Pension Scheme and Family Pension Fund respectively by substituting the existing section 3E of the Act by a new section 3E. It is proposed to transfer the net assets of the existing Family Pension Fund to the corpus of the proposed Pension Fund. Clause (b) of sub-section (2) of the new section 3E proposed vide clause 5 of the Bill provides for the contribution of the Central Government. The Central Government may pay to the proposed Pension Fund such sums after due appropriation made by Parliament by law in this behalf. However, it is proposed that this amount would be at the existing level of contribution to the Family Pension Fund. The Central Government shall also bear the entire cost of administration of the proposed Pension Fund. It is estimated that a total annual recurring expenditure to the tune of Rs. 28.42 crores would be involved towards the Central Government's contribution to the Pension Fund and for meeting the cost of the administration of the Pension Fund.

2. There will be no additional financial liability, either recurring or non-recurring, from the Consolidated Fund of India for the purposes of the proposed Pension Scheme.

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

The new section 3E of the Coal Mines Provident Fund and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1948 proposed to be inserted vide clause 5 of the Bill, seeks to empower the Central Government to frame the Pension Scheme for the purpose of providing superannuation pension, retiring pension, permanent total disablement pension to the employees of coal mines and also widow or widower pension, children pension or orphan pension payable to the beneficiaries of such employees covered under the Act. Under the Pension Scheme which will be framed by the Central Government, the various matters which are to be provided therein are enumerated in the new Second Schedule proposed to be inserted vide clause 9 of the Bill.

2. The provisions to be made in the Pension Scheme under the Act will contain matters of detail and day-to-day administration of the Pension Fund, the various kinds of pension payable under the Scheme, contributions to be received, mode of disbursement of pension to be made and other like matters. It is very difficult to provide for these matters in the Bill itself.

3. The delegation of legislative power is, thus, of a normal character.

S. GOPALAN,
Secretary-General.
